A LETTER FROM THE STUDIO

Light is not just functional – it is the soul of a space.

Every piece in the Naaya collection begins with a lump of natural clay and the hands of a skilled artisan. Through patient shaping, careful firing, and deliberate finishing, a lamp emerges, one that holds light as tenderly as it holds air.

These are not simply lights. They are objects that change how a room breathes. They cast warmth into corners, draw the eye upward, and anchor a space in something deeply real.

Pendant Lights

Sculptural ceramics that hang as living art. Each form is hand-thrown and fired, directing warmth downward with a soft, intimate glow.

FACET SPHERE

PENDANT LIGHTS

Sunrise Rings

Three hand-sculpted matte clay rings that nest together, casting layered shadows as light passes through the negative space between them.

Inspired by the quiet geometry of dawn. A meditation in ceramic.

PENDANT LIGHTS

Squafold

The purest expression of form. A sculpted fold in clay balanced, opaque, and elemental where soft geometry meets quiet light. Beneath its solid silhouette, a warm glow gathers gently, blurring the boundary between circle and square, shadow and illumination.

Available in natural clay finishes, from earthy terracotta to striking matte white.
